

Little Martial Arts @ Child Care Centres

Are you the right fit for our team?

Hello and thank you for your interest in becoming a Little Martial Arts trainer at Child Care Centres. We are expanding our Child Care Centre program throughout Australia and we're looking for exceptional people to help make that happen. Maybe that's you?

What are we looking for?

First and foremost, you must really want to make a positive difference to kid's lives. If you're in it just for the money (and its quite good money) this won't work for you. The success of our clubs and child care programs are built on the consistent and meaningful interactions you have with the kids. It's one thing to run the program and it's an entirely different thing to run it effectively and successfully.

You must make a commitment, be responsible and reliable.

This is not a job that you can just come and go as you please. We are building a long-term business around you and need reliability for each and every session. The kids form a special bond to their trainers so unless absolutely unavoidable, we do not want to substitute trainers for days off. Having said that, pre arranges days off can be accommodated.

You must have a current car license.

You'll be required to make your own way to multiple centres every week and transport a large sports bag of equipment to each session.

Blue Card / First Aid

You must have a current Blue Card (working with children) and a current first aid certificate before commencing your position. You may apply for the position without it but you must have these in place before setting foot in the door of any child care centre.

Experience

Whilst martial arts experience is preferable its not absolutely essential. You'll be coaching kids 3-5yo in basic skills which you will learn and become expert at in around two weeks via our "Train the Trainer" course.

What is essential is experience with young children, either in a coaching capacity or just being a parent.

What are the hours?

The hours vary from area to area. Once your training is done and we're both confident about placing you into a leadership role, we will match you up with centres in your local area. Each session is 30 minutes long and most centres like to have their activities in the morning between 9am and 11am. Some centres will consider afternoon sessions but they are in the minority. Depending on your availability you could be booked for up to 3 sessions per day, 5 days a week. That would be the maximum it would get to so please consider applying for this position carefully, If those hours are not enough please do not apply. And bear in mind that the centres in your area may take time to build. If you need minimal hours straight away this position is not for you.

What does it pay?

The pay is $30 per session which are 30 minutes long.

How do I become a qualified trainer?

- 1, The first step is to read the above carefully to make sure its something you're going to be interested in pursuing.
- 2, Check out our website thoroughly www.littlema.com.au
- 3, Send your resume to david@littlema.com.au. for us to keep on file.
- 4, Call David for a phone interview 0418 318 833. From there we may organise a face to face meeting.
- 5, David will contact you following that meeting if you are successful.
- 6, If successful you'll be given a password for our on-line training videos for you to study.
- 7, We'll arrange for some on-site training (unpaid). Allow 2-4 hours depending on how many people we are training up at one time.
- 8, We will place you with a current trainer to "shadow" for a couple of sessions (unpaid)
- 9, Once we are both comfortable and confident to place you into your own centres, you'll be given a trainers pack (large sports back of equipment, trainers folder, flyers, ninja bears, uniform etc) and you'll be placed into centres that will suit your availability.

Good luck and I look forward to meeting you in person.
